You are required to make corrections if you scored below a 90%. After each question, draw a line to separate problems. If your work requires a graph, you MUST cut out pieces of graph paper and glue to this paper.

Good explanation:

- "I did not follow the order of operations, I should have divided before I added.
- "When you add two negative numbers you should keep the negative sign, but I made the number positive.

Bad explanation:

- "I read the problem wrong."
- "I wrote down the wrong answer."
- "I don't know."
